Course Description

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to provide a first aid response to a casualty in line with first aid guidelines determined by the Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) and other Australian national peak clinical bodies.

The unit applies to all persons who may be required to provide a first aid response in a range of situations, including community and workplace settings.

Specific licensing/regulatory requirements relating to this competency, including requirements for refresher training should be obtained from the relevant national/state/territory Work Health and Safety Regulatory Authorities.

Target Cohort / Entry Requirements

This course is intended for:

- Workplace employees across all industries (e.g. construction, offices, retail, hospitality, healthcare) who may need to respond to emergencies
- Designated first aiders and emergency response personnel within organisations
- Supervisors, team leaders, and managers responsible for staff health and safety
- Construction and high-risk industry workers where first aid certification is often mandatory
- Teachers, childcare workers, and community service staff who have a duty of care
- Fitness instructors, coaches, and sports personnel responsible for participant safety
- New employees or job seekers requiring first aid certification to improve employability
- General community members who want the skills and confidence to respond to medical emergencies in everyday situations

Entry requirements may include:

- Language, literacy, numeracy and digital skills (LLND test may apply)
- Minimum age of 18 (If under 18 parental consent is required).
- Physical requirements - A participant must be in good health and medically fit for work.
